SPLINTERS

Foreign bodies that are partially or fully embedded in the skin. They're usually wood but metal, glass and plastics can also be considered splinters. If the splinter is deeply embedded, it may have to be surgically removed. Always take proper precautions where splinters are concerned...just to be safe!

Did you know that Homeopathic Silica has the wonderful capacity to help splinters rise up to the surface of the skin and help them come out?

Silica is a powerful Homeopathic Medicine with a great capacity to heal; specifically wounds that are slow to heal on their own in people of all ages and stages. It is also particularly helpful in infections that are lingering.

Silica has many other uses and can be prescribed by a qualified practitioner for chronic conditions as required.

Next time you or a loved one has a splinter, give Silica a try!
